

MotherBoard

Dear Crowned Mom,

Raising young brown queens isn't at all an easy task, especially in today's society with all the pressures and temptations, but the Mother Board makes the journey function properly. TCA created a new network that will provide Crowned Moms with an outlet and support "SIS"tem all while fostering the efforts of The Crowned Academy as parent advocates, ambassadors, recruiters, and liaisons. Whether you need a MOMent to vent, a break from your day to day routine as their "mom" and/or his "wife", a ride for your kid when you're stuck at work, someone to pray with or support from a fellow mom who can relate to the terrible twos, 12's or 15's lol, The MotherBoard is your judgement free zone and trust us, we got your back Mom.

Motherhood doesn't come with a manual, and some of us started while we were still in need of mothering, but there are strategies, tools, and resources that can assure that our daughters don't end up becoming just another statistic, but they are viewed as the standard. While some may choose to spend their hard earned money outfitting their daughter's physical appearance or securing their social status, you're sowing into her future and securing her bag by sending her to Summer Reign 2K19 and that in itself proves to us you're not just a phenomenal black woman you're an amazing mom.#blackgirlmagic The world has enough women under the influence of others; what the world needs is more women of influence as mothers.

We know after this summer experience at TCA you'll undoubtedly choose to officially become apart of our Village and enroll your young queen(s) in our mentorship academy full-time, and this is the first step! You've already told your friends about us, and that makes you "Mother Board" material. Whether you're a single Mom, a bonus mom, a wife and mother of 3, a grandmother or auntie who stepped up or an adopted mother, there's a special place for you on our board!

Love,
Crowned Moms Kristen & Sherry

crownedmoms@gmail.com